

Scandinavian Ethnic Fairytale Music

The sister trio Ulvens Döttrar (The Daughters of the Wolf) comes from the archipelago The Aaland Islands in the Baltic Sea. They perform primarily original songs influenced by ethnic Nordic folk music and songs from the Viking age. They are also inspired by dramatic folk rock, latin rhythms and the mystery of nature throughout the world.

Ulvens Döttrar always sing and play their music live. They play instruments like Jew's harp, fiddle, didgeridoo, djembe drum, rainstick and key harp. Their main instrument is their voices mostly sung in 3-part harmonies or for making special effects.
